REFERENDUM IN VENEZUELA

Thursday 26th February 2009, 8:00 pm

TEACHERS CLUB

36 Parnell Square West Dublin1.

On February 15th Venezuelans voted to amend the Constitution to abolish term limits on the presidency and other elective offices.

This enables President Chavez to stand for election again when his present term of office ends in 2012.

A report by

Robert Navan, who was an observer at the referendum and

Seán Edwards, who was in Venezuela during the campaign.
